PRESIDENT CITES INDIVIDUAL AND COLLECTIVE ACTION AS DETERMINING COLLEGE'S FUTURE PROSPECTS

President Burke told faculty and staff on Tuesday that the future prosperity of the College will depend on their individual and collective creativity and commitment.

"Quality, not quantity, will become the hallmark of our future success," said Burke in an address at a meeting of the faculty marking the official opening of the 1979-80 academic year. "The solution to continuing numerical problems, such as budgets and enrollments, will not depend upon the action of external forces that in the past threatened our survival. If we take care of the creativity and commitment, then budgets and enrollments will take care of themselves."

Burke cited the achievements of faculty as having begun to transform a prediction he made a year ago into a reality. "Last year," he said, "I predicted that our College stood on the eve of a new era of excellence. This year, I can announce its arrival."

The Plattsburgh president said that the institution's success in new student recruitment should raise the quality profile of this fall's freshman class, even though freshmen last year had an impressive record with a mean high school average of 85 per cent. "Last year's record of a 12.9 per cent increase in applications seemed unbeatable until this year's figure topped that rate by two per cent. We denied admission to nearly twice as many students this year as in 1978."

As a "State University College," Burke said, Plattsburgh has the capacity to achieve the advantages and avoid the disadvantages of both big and small institutions.

"Our College is big enough to be bountiful in its range of programs and activities offered to students, yet small enough to be sympathetic and supportive of the unique characteristics of each of them as individuals," Burke said. "We now offer more than 50 undergraduate and graduate programs and have experts in most of the major disciplines and in nearly all of the subdisciplines. Clearly, few private or public colleges match our range of academic programs or our diversity of faculty expertise."

DR. CHARLES WARREN NEW ARTS AND SCIENCE DEAN

The College has a new Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science. He is Dr. Charles O. Warren, Jr., 39, formerly dean and executive vice president at Southwestern at Memphis College in Tennessee. The SUNY Board of Trustees approved the appointment of Dr. Warren this summer, culminating a four-month national search for a successor to Dr. Philip B. Clarkson, who retired last December.

President Joseph C. Burke said that he was pleased with the 14-person all-College search committee's selection of Dr. Warren. "Dr. Warren's record indicates that he recognizes the importance of interrelationships of teaching activities, scholarly activities, and community service," declared President Burke. "We are most pleased that an exhaustive, nationwide search rewarded us with a creative and experienced person to coordinate the efforts of our dynamic arts and science faculty."

In 13 years at Southwestern at Memphis, Dr. Warren served primarily in the biology department, achieving the rank of full professor in 1977. In January 1978, he was given the title of Executive Vice President and Dean of the College. Dr. Warren has conducted biochemistry research at a children's hospital in Memphis under sponsorship of the National Institutes of Health. He also has served the University of Florida, and Memorial University of Newfoundland at St. John's Canada, as visiting associate professor of botany and visiting researcher in molecular biology, respectively. A native of Bluefield, WV., Dr. Warren holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the Ph.D. from the University of Florida.

DIRECTORSHIPS FOR CANADIAN STUDIES/INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION AND CONTINUING EDUCATION FILLED

Two new administrative personnel have been selected this summer to fill the directorships of the College's Canadian Studies/International Education and Continuing Education programs.

Dr. Earl H. Fry is the new Director of Canadian Studies/International Education. Dr. Fry was formerly assistant professor of political science at Boise State University, ID., a position he held for three years. Dr. Fry received his Ph.D. in political science from UCLA and holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from Brigham Young University. He served as chairman of Boise State's Faculty Research Committee and was a Fulbright Lecturer at the University of Paris during the 1974-75 academic year. He is the recipient of a Canadian Studies Grant from Duke University and a Faculty Enrichment Program Grant from the Canadian Government. Fluent in the French language, Dr. Fry is the author of several publications dealing in foreign investment in the U.S., and Canadian government, politics and foreign policy.

Dr. Fry

Dr. Walling

Dr. Harry Griffin Walling, Jr., former director of extended programs and assistant professor of continuing education at Indiana University at South Bend, has assumed the post of Director of Continuing Education at Plattsburgh. Dr. Walling helped design and administer Indiana University at South Bend's off-campus, external degree and evening and weekend credit and credit-free programs, for the past three years. A native of New York City, Dr. Walling was formerly on the Northeastern New York Council on Continuing Education responsible for continuing education development and assessment, grant preparation and administration and faculty and student recruitment. He holds the Ed.D. in educational administration and master's degree from SUNY Albany and bachelor's degree from Hobart College.

DR. RICHARD ROBBINS TO SERVE AS ACTING ASSOCIATE VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The new administrative position of Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs will be assumed on an acting basis during the 1979-80 academic year by Dr. Richard Robbins, associate professor of anthropology. The position was petitioned and approved by SUNY Central Offices in Albany this past summer. Dr. Jerome Supple, vice president for academic affairs, announced that during the fall semester the position will be advertised and a committee will be appointed to aid in the search for a permanent associate vice president.

"The associate vice president's position is found on most other senior arts and science colleges within SUNY and in my judgement is needed here," Dr. Supple explained.

Dr. Robbins will have responsibility for the College's General Studies Program, will assist the Vice President for Academic Affairs in the administration of the revised General Education Program, coordinate the Freshman Seminar, and study the academic implications of the attrition and retention of students on campus. The new position will also entail coordinating the articulation of the College's academic programs with various two-year colleges. Dr. Robbins has been a member of the Plattsburgh State faculty since 1966 and is a 1977 recipient of the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Teaching. Recently, he served as chairperson of the College's Summer Committee on General Education.

SUNY STUDENTS NOW VOTING MEMBERS OF TRUSTEES AND COUNCILS

State University students, who three years ago won the right of representation on the SUNY Board of Trustees and local College Councils, now have voting rights as well. Gov. Carey signed legislation on July 6 giving student representatives full voting rights on the governing boards. The law appeals the student representatives' "ex-officio" status on the boards and equalizes the standing of all trustees. Since intially allowed to sit on these boards, students have had parliamentary privileges, including the right to make and second motions and place items on the agenda. Now they can vote on these items.

Kevin Stewart, president of the College's Student Association and student representative on the Plattsburgh College Council, termed Carey's action a major step forward for student representation in the state. "The measure will definitely help to increase student interests in SUNY policy on both a local and state level," Stewart said. "In the case of the College Council, my policy will be to address the immediate student interests keeping in mind the long-term goals of this institution."

DR. BAUM'S TEXTBOOK BEING PUBLISHED IN THIRD LANGUAGE

Dr. Stuart Baum, professor of chemistry, has been notified by the MacMillan Publishing Co. that his "Introduction to Organic and Biological Chemistry" is now being published in the Spanish language. Dr. Baum's book was first published in 1970 and was adopted by more than 100 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada. An Italian translation was published in 1975 and an updated second edition was printed in January of 1978. The book is intended for courses in organic chemistry, with heavy emphasis on biological applications. Written for students in the areas of nursing, biology, medical technology, agriculture, and veterinary science, the book has been lauded by colleagues from throughout the country as "well organized; excellent for a one semester organic chemistry course; easy to understand; and the best of its kind at this time."

The Spanish edition of the textbook, being printed in Mexico, will be circulated throughout Central and Latin America and Spain. A member of the Plattsburgh State faculty since 1965, Dr. Baum was a 1976 recipient of the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence In Teaching. Presently, Dr. Baum teaches an introductory environmental chemistry course and a course in the College's Freshman Seminar Program.

COLLEGE LEADS ALL SUNY UNITS IN NUMBER OF CHEMISTRY GRADUATES

A recent survey compiled by Dr. Arnold Rheingold, professor of chemistry, indicates that from 1973-78 the College by enrollment proportion leads all SUNY four-year institutions in the number of chemistry graduates. According to the April 30 issue of Chemical and Engineering News, the number of 1978 Plattsburgh chemistry bachelor's degree graduates was at an all-time high of 31 — nearly 40 per cent greater than in any previous year.

The Rheingold report goes on to indicate that the absolute number of chemistry bachelor's degrees (without regard for institutional size) is greater for Plattsburgh (31) than for many larger institutions including Columbia (13), Georgia Tech (24), Harvard (27) and Yale (20). In addition, the number of 1975 Plattsburgh chemistry undergraduates who have either received Ph.D. degrees, or are in the terminal stages of completion, is 47 per cent (nine of 19). That percentage compares to the national average of 15 per cent and indicates that Plattsburgh's number of Ph.D. candidates is three times higher than the national average. Rheingold's report also maintains that a preliminary survey indicates that an anticipated 1 Ph.D.'s will be obtained by 22 Plattsburgh chemistry graduates from the class of 1976.

FRESHMAN SUMMER ORIENTATION ATTENDANCE INCREASES; STUDENTS LIKE SESSIONS

Attendance records from July's freshman orientation program indicate that more first-year students this past summer took advantage of the College's seven three-day orientation sessions than ever before. The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs announced that 84 per cent (997) of the 1,185 freshmen students presently on campus attended an orientation session. The total, according to Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice president for student affairs, is several percentage points ahead of last year's figure. In addition, attendance statistics show that two-out-of-every five students who attended an orientation session were represented by a member of their family. Typical among the comments received in writing on evaluation forms provided were these: "The orientation leaders were friendly, enthusiastic and well-informed." "The academic advising sessions were easily outlined and advisors took time to answer all questions." "I was pleased and very glad I came. Plattsburgh's friendly people reassured me about enrolling here."

PRESIDENT PLAYS HOST TO STUDENTS IN DORM TRIPLES

The first of three separate wine and cheese receptions for students currently living three-to-a-room in campus residence halls was held at the home of President Burke yesterday afternoon. Receptions will be held this afternoon and Friday from 4:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. The President sent invitations to each of the approximately 900 new freshmen and transfer students to attend one of the three receptions. The events are designed to welcome the students to campus, and to afford them opportunity to meet the President and members of the Student Affairs staff and to discuss residence hall living conditions.

INTERCOLLEGiate ATHLETIC PROGRAM REORGANIZED; DR. RANGAZAS TO ASSUME DIRECTOR'S DUTIES

The College's intercollegiate athletic program has been reorganized. Under the new structure, Dr. Ernest Rangazas, chairman of health, physical education and recreation, has assumed responsibility for most duties performed in coordinating Plattsburgh's program of 15 men's and women's varsity sports. Reorganization also means that the position of director of athletics, held for several years by Joseph C. Jastrab, associate professor, will be eliminated. Mr. Jastrab, a member of the Plattsburgh faculty for the past 23 years, will continue to serve the College as a full-time member of the teaching staff in physical education, and as coach of the men's golf team.

Dr. Eldridge Roark, vice-president for student affairs, who is directly responsible to President Burke for intercollegiate athletics, described the change as one "that will allow for better coordination of the institution's sports programs" between his office and the office headed by Dr. Rangazas. The result, he said, is the phasing out of the position of athletic director.

Under the reorganization, Uwe Meyer will serve as business manager of the program, with responsibility for financial and budgetary considerations. Meyer is presently acting assistant to the vice president for student affairs and men's soccer coach. Meyer's appointment, explained Roark, will allow Rangazas and the physical education staff to concentrate with greater intensity on general operations of the athletic program.

"DOC" REDCAY'S TEAM CAPTURES FIRST REDCAY GOLF CLASSIC

Professor emeritus Dr. Edward Redcay sunk a 10-foot birdie putt in "sudden-death" play to help his three-person-best-ball-team capture this past weekend's First Annual "Doc" Redcay Golf Classic. Redcay and his team of Dr. James Ashe, professor of education and Ms. Patricia Bentley, associate librarian, fired a Sunday 18-hole total of 74 to send the tournament into a playoff round over Saturday's winners — Jim King, of the Technical Assistance Center, his wife Lynn, assistant librarian, and Dr. Paul Morocco, coordinator of psychological services. The Saturday and Sunday College faculty/staff tournament held at Loon Lake Country Club attracted 29 golfers divided into nine three-person teams.

UNIQUE CELL BIOLOGY PROGRAM WITH JONES CELL CENTER TO START IN JANUARY

The College's Department of Biological Sciences, in collaboration with the Laboratory of American Tissue Culture Association at the W. Alton Jones Cell Science Center in Lake Placid, will begin implementation at the start of the spring semester a 15-week resident research semester program in In Vitro Cell Biology (cell and tissue culture technology). Plans are underway in the spring of 1981 to offer the program SUNY-wide to students interested in cellular biology.

Plattsburgh's new resident research semester program has been developed from the College's 12-month internship training program in tissue culture technology in affiliation with the Jones Center. Beginning in January, 10 or 12 Plattsburgh State students will be enrolled in the resident research program that will provide students with an additional experience and exposure to diverse investigative methods in cell and tissue culture biology. Students who apply will be advised to enroll in the second semester of their junior year.

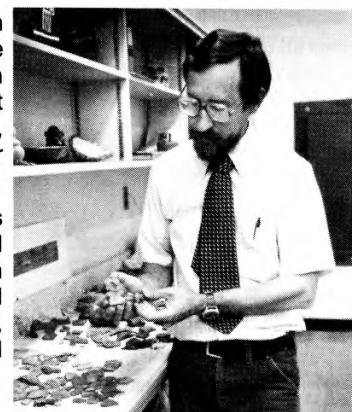

Dr. H.Z. Liu, chairman of the biological sciences department, explained that in the area of cell and tissue culture technology, there is no other program similar to the proposal offered elsewhere in the nation, nor is it likely to be duplicated without professional expertise of the education staff at the Cell Science Center. "The program will offer students the opportunity to work with top professionals in the areas of cellular biology, and upon graduation, greatly increase their chances for employment in the field," Dr. Liu said.

He cited the efforts of President Burke, Dr. Jerome Supple, vice-president for academic affairs; Dr. William Graziadei, associate professor of biology; and State Senator Ronald B. Stafford for helping the program receive funding through the 1979-80 state supplemental budget.

Dr. Gordon C. Pollard, associate professor of anthropology, has received a $23,577 research grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to analyze pottery and other remains he collected during the 1977-78 academic year from 24 late pre-Hispanic village ruins in Argentina. The research project entitled, "Prehispanic N.W. Argentina: Analysis of Recent Archaeological Collections," will be conducted in collaboration with Dr. James Olmsted, associate professor of geology, Dr. Philip Walker, professor of biology, and Dr. Heather Lechtman of MIT.

Dr. Pollard's archaeological collections are on loan from Argentina until January of 1981. His analysis will include data collected from soil samples, pottery fragments, bronze artifacts and radiocarbon dating of organic remains. Dr. Pollard's research will allow for the reconstruction and dating of the settlement pattern of a large segment of pre-Hispanic Indians who farmed and herded animals in the Andes Mountains of Argentina's Salta province. His research, previously supported by an NEH summer stipend, is aimed at understanding the form and nature of prehistoric cultural development and interaction in the south-central Andes.

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY MAJORS GAINING CERTIFICATION EXCEED NATIONAL AVERAGE

Since the inception of the College's medical technology program ten years ago, 95 per cent of Plattsburgh's medical technology majors who have taken the professional certification examination for the first time have received passing marks. According to national statistics, the rate of success among Plattsburgh medical technology majors exceeds the national average by 15 per cent. Results from a 1978-79 report by the Clinical Pathologists Society of America indicates that all 13 Plattsburgh State medical technology students who recently completed hospital clinical training and registered to take the professional certifying examination received passing marks. In addition to these results, Dr. H.Z. Liu, chairman of the biological sciences department, announced that 72 per cent (14 out of 19) of this past spring's medical technology majors who completed academic study on campus were accepted for the required fourth year of hospital clinical training.

THE FRESHMAN SEMINAR PROGRAM: IMPROVING THE FIRST-YEAR STUDENT'S INITIAL EXPERIENCE

President Burke in his speech two weeks ago to the College's faculty and staff expressed concern over local and national statistics which indicated that approximately 25 per cent of freshmen drop out of college during their first semester. "Every available study shows that the single most important factor in student retention and success is close contact with one or more faculty members," Burke said. "Though freshmen especially need such faculty contacts, as a group, they are the least likely to get, or initiate, them."

As a local answer to this dilemma in higher education, Burke announced the beginning of Freshman Seminars — a new program not common on many campuses but instituted at Plattsburgh as a means to help address problems and questions freshmen face typically in their first year in college. Eighteen instructors, who include mostly teaching faculty from a wide variety of disciplines, along with several non-teaching professionals and administrators comprise the faculty. Limited this semester to 250 freshmen, each seminar carries three hours of academic credit and focuses on a wide range of academic topics, while others are concentrating on developmental themes. Dr. Richard Robbins, acting associate vice president for academic affairs and coordinator of the Freshman Seminars, believes the program is the only one of its kind being implemented among four-year SUNY units and he plans to closely monitor its effectiveness on student attrition.

COLLEGE'S FIRST RESOURCES DIRECTORY LISTS 250 PARTICIPANTS

The College's first Faculty Resource Directory, listing campus people with their individual professional and creative pursuits, has been compiled and printed and made ready for distribution to statewide news media, civic organizations, and community and government agencies. The directory published by the Office of College Relations following a survey of faculty and staff taken last spring, contains the names of 250 individuals willing to speak "authoritatively" on more than 200 general subjects and nearly 425 specific topics. The publication, designed to enhance the image of the College, will be used as a resource guide for news media, civic agencies, fraternal organization, school principals, human service agencies, community and government leaders, clubs, and so forth.

'79 BIOLOGY GRADUATES EARN 62 PER CENT ACCEPTANCE RATE INTO MEDICAL AND DENTAL SCHOOLS

A report by the College's Biological Sciences Department's Pre-Health Professions Advisory Committee indicates that 62 per cent (five out of eight) of the College's 1979 biology and biochemistry/biophysics majors applying to either medical or dental schools were accepted. The figure is the highest acceptance rate ever recorded by Plattsburgh State graduates who have enrolled in professional schools in New York, Texas, and New Jersey.

According to the advisory committee's report, 23 Plattsburgh biology and biochemistry/biophysics graduates over the past three academic years have been accepted to either medical, dental, podiatry, veterinary or optometry schools. The total represents an approximate 60 per cent acceptance rate for biology and biochemistry/biophysics majors seeking to enter professional institutions.

COLLEGE'S SELF-ASSESSMENT PROGRAM FEATURED IN NATIONAL PUBLICATION

A review of the development and success of the College's Self-Assessment Program, implemented in 1973 by the Office of Institutional Research and Analytical Studies and the campus-wide Outcomes Committee, was featured in a recent edition of Forum for Liberal Education. The monthly periodical is designed to increase the awareness of various academic programs offered throughout the nation's colleges and universities. The Forum article, authored by Mrs. Diana Green, director of OIR, outlines the development of the student outcome surveys and case studies and how they are included as a general source of information in the College's curricular decision-making, recruitment and admissions policies and other institutional planning procedures. Highlighted are the College's Senior Evaluation Survey, Freshman Survey, Sophomore Experience Survey, and Alumni Survey.

TRUSTEES APPROVE ENROLLMENT INCREASE FOR '80-81

The State University Trustees last week approved an enrollment projection for the College that calls for an enrollment of 5,772 full-time equivalent students (FTEs) for the 1980-81 academic year — an increase of 292 over the present number of FTEs.

At the same time, because of what they predict will be "a sharp decline in the number of high school graduates over the next several years," the Trustees set an enrollment figure of 5,200 FTEs for this campus in the 1984-85 academic year.

Chancellor Wharton, who recommended the latter figure to the Trustees, acknowledged the College's success in recruitment and retention of students. In a recent letter to President Burke, the Chancellor wrote: "The 5,200 figure (for academic 1984-85) is a recognition of the confidence we have in you and your campus, and we expect that you will have little trouble adhering to this goal."

SUNY's Office of Policy and Planning had originally recommended 4,458 FTEs for '84-85, but after discussions with President Burke, the Chancellor resolved the disagreement in favor of the College. The decline of over 1,000 FTEs in the next five years, Burke had argued, would undoubtedly have had guaranteed devastating budget cuts.

The following table shows the enrollment projections for each of SUNY's university colleges:

	79-80 Budgeted	84-85 Plan	Increase/ Decrease

Dear Joe:

Your opening remarks to the faculty and staff have crossed my desk, and I want to second your enthusiasm with support and encouragement of my own. It does indeed seem that a new era of excellence has come to Plattsburgh.

The willingness of your faculty to commit its resources to creativity and quality instruction should maintain the record Plattsburgh is setting for itself. This diversity is a rare and important element in your mission as a College, and I am happy to join you in reaffirming its contribution to the people of the North Country.

With best wishes for a successful academic year.

COLLEGE'S SUMMER ENERGY PROGRAM ADDS UP TO BIG $$$ SAVINGS IN FUEL COSTS

A recent energy audit by the Office of Business Affairs indicates that the Energy Conservation Committee's ordered cutbacks in air conditioning usage during the summer months helped the College save more than $40,000 in fuel oil costs as compared to the same period last year. The conservation measures resulted in the College saving nearly 98,000 gallons of fuel oil and more than 156,000 kilowatt hours in electricity during the months of May through August. The complete shutdown of the College's central air conditioning unit in all campus buildings, with the exception of the laboratory facilities in Beaumont Hall, resulted in more than a 41,000 gallon savings in fuel oil for the month of June, alone. The College was able to save nearly 42,000 gallons of oil during the months of July and August — despite the full-time use of the Field House ice facilities — by operating the air conditioning unit in all buildings only when outside temperatures ranged above 78°.

DR. RHEINGOLD AWARDED THREE-YEAR $78,000 NSF GRANT FOR RESEARCH

Dr. Arnold Rheingold, professor of chemistry and widely recognized for his research into chemical bonding, has been awarded a three-year $78,000 grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF) for studies into the chemical relationships of the toxic elements arsenic and antimony. Dr. Rheingold, whose research into both of these elements has been conducted while on the College faculty since 1970, has helped to show that the element arsenic and many of its chemical compounds are an essential nutrient in the human diet. According to Dr. Rheingold, deprivation of arsenic, at least in rats, leads to a large number of organ malfunctions and, ultimately death. He maintains that about five parts per billionth of arsenic in man's total diet appears essential.

Dr. Rheingold's research in the areas of chemical bonding between arsenic and antimony could eventually help in the discovery of new materials that would be capable of replacing our dwindling energy and petrochemical resources formed up to the present day from carbon molecules. He explains that all life, chemical sources (gas, oil and coal), and most plastics and fibers depend upon the ability of one element — carbon — to form stable chemical structures within similar atoms. "What my research hopes to recognize," Dr. Rheingold maintains, "is the ability of other elements, besides our limiting supplies of carbon that we so depend upon, can be used as replacements."

Dr. Rheingold's previous research into chemical bonding has been supported by more than $90,000 from the Office of Naval Research. His NSF research will be assisted by one chemistry post-doctoral fellow, one graduate student and four undergraduates.

DR. SKOPP PRESENTING PAPER AT INTERNATIONAL HISTORY OF EDUCATION CONFERENCE IN BELGIUM

Dr. Douglas R. Skopp, associate professor of history, has been invited this week to present a paper at the four-day Second International Conference on the History of Education in Louvain, Belgium. Dr. Skopp is one of 50 worldwide participants and only one of two U.S. representatives at the conference which this year focuses on topics related to teacher-training in the 19th century.

Dr. Skopp's paper outlines the major areas of German educational reform in the 19th century. The paper is the subject of his 10-year study into 19th century Germany's movement toward compulsory education. Dr. Skopp's study this year is being supported by a grant from the State University of New York Research Foundation. According to Dr. Skopp, the 19th century saw a worldwide effort to professionalize the teacher and to incorporate education as a state-building institution during the Industrial Revolution. Educational historians claim that it was during this period that political and social values entered into the classroom as ideals in building nationhood.

Dr. Skopp's study into German education began while completing his doctorate at Brown University. His study has also included visits to both West and East German museums and universities and he has presented papers on the subject at both the U.S. and Canadian Historical Association Conventions. Presently, he is completing a manuscript of his research for publication.

COLLEGE JOINS ALBANY SEMESTER INTERN PROGRAM

Beginning in January, Plattsburgh State will join a consortium comprised of seven SUNY colleges offering outstanding junior and senior undergraduates in the liberal arts area an opportunity to work and study with agencies of the state government in a one-semester Albany internship program.

Dr. Ann Hasting, assistant to the vice president for academic affairs and campus liaison for the Albany program, announced that three Plattsburgh State juniors or seniors with educational backgrounds in either business, education, the social sciences, fine arts, or communications will be eligible to participate. Students will earn 15 credits (the equivalent of a full semester credit) and will be paid directly by the agencies. A stipend will be awarded each student to defray the additional costs of housing and transportation while in Albany.

"Our campus will nominate three students to participate in next semester's program," Dr. Hasting said. "If these students are selected by the internship committee, then agency assignments will be made according to the qualifications and interests of the students and the competency requirements of each agency." In addition, participants will be required to attend weekly academic seminars and complete a 20-30 page independent research paper that will be evaluated by sponsoring faculty on each home campus. Students interested in participating in next semester's Albany Internship program will have an opportunity to meet with Dr. James Hurtgen, SUNY Albany, professor and coordinator of the program, on Tuesday, October 2, from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. in the College Center Music Lounge.

OLYMPIC JOB RECRUITERS ON CAMPUS NEXT WEEK

Students who wish to submit applications to work as paid employees at the 1980 Winter Olympic Games in Lake Placid will have an opportunity to meet with representatives of the New York State Department of Labor and Pinkerton Security from Tuesday through Friday of next week (Oct. 2-5). Applications are available from the Office of Career Planning and Placement and must be completed prior to making an appointment for an interview. Interview times for representatives will be scheduled from 9 a.m. - noon; 1-4 p.m.; and 6-8 p.m. on the designated days. Paid job positions will be available in the areas of security, transportation, maintenance, clerical and food service. Employees will work for a two-week period (Feb. 9-24) and will be provided with transportation to an area within the Olympic site. Ms. Bette Simonowitz, in charge of recruiting students to work at next February's games, announced that students who have filed a volunteer application can also apply for a paid job, if they wish. All volunteer applications will remain active until such time as a student is selected for a paid position.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK; COLLEGE CHALLENGED TO RAISE $26,300

The campus community has been challenged to raise $26,300 in support of the 1980 United Way fund drive for Clinton County. United Way is the only fund-raising campaign sanctioned by the College. For the third consecutive year, Vice President for Finance and Management Bernard J. Seawell will coordinate the campus drive. A year ago the College's faculty, staff and students raised $20,166.71 in contributions toward the United Way. Campus officials maintain that they are striving to complete this year's campaign and surpass the goal by October 19.

Organizationally, the campus campaign will be conducted in 11 large divisions of the College. The divisions and their 1980 goals are: Academic Affairs/Professional and General Studies, $5,700; Arts and Science, $6,500; Continuing Education, $200; General Administration, $1,500; Business Affairs, $2,000; General Services, $2,600; Student Services, $1,600; Maintenance and Operations, $1,200; Maintenance/Custodial, $1,300; Marriott, $1,000; and Students, $2,700.

FOUNDATION'S CORPORATE GIVING PROGRAM NEARS $40,000 GOAL

The Plattsburgh College Foundation's corporate giving program is nearing its $40,000 goal. Daniel L. Jerry, president of Vincent S. Jerry and Sons of Plattsburgh, corporate giving chairman, reports that $35,955 has been raised to date.

Eight businesses or corporations have joined the program for the first time. They are: Albany Savings Bank, Augsbury Terminals, Cronin Realty, Diamond International, the L&M Restaurant and Motel, McCadam Distributing Co., Northway Volkswagen and Patrick's Vending.

DR. COHEN'S BOOK ON AGRICULTURAL TECHNOLOGY TO BE PRINTED IN THE SPANISH LANGUAGE

Dr. Mark N. Cohen, associate professor of anthropology, has been notified by Yale University Press that his book, "The Food Crisis in Prehistory: Overpopulation and the Origins of Agriculture," has been contracted to be published in the Spanish language.

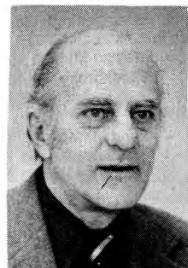

Dr. Cohen's book, which discusses population growth and its effect on the origins of agricultural technology, was first published by Yale Press in 1977 and in paperback edition this past year. The book has been received enthusiastically by colleagues. One reviewer rated the work, as "the best synthesis on the origins of agriculture yet published." The contract for the Spanish edition of the text calls for the printing of 4,000 copies within the next two years.

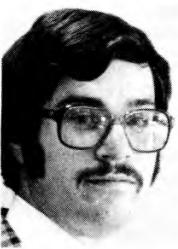

Dr. Cohen's book demonstrates that early man had the technological capability of farming long before he found it necessary to depend upon the soil as a source of food. His book claims that man turned to farming only when groups grew too large to be fed in the traditional manner of the times. Dr. Cohen conducted further research into his study while on fellowship last year at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford. Last May he presented a paper on his work at a symposium held at the National Museum of Ethnology in Osaka, Japan. Presently, he is applying the concept of population pressure to a study of nutrition and infectious diseases.

DR. EVEREST RECOGNIZED BY NATIONAL HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

Dr. Allan S. Everest, professor of history and the longest tenured member on the College faculty, was recently awarded a Certificate of Commendation by the American Association for State and Local History during the organization's meeting in Tucson, AZ. Dr. Everest, the author of seven books dealing in North Country history, was selected for the honor from among 100 nominees and was the only New York State representative eligible for recognition. The Association, composed of more than 6,000 educators and leaders in the history profession, annually honors a historian who makes a lasting contribution to regional and local history in either the U.S. or Canada. Dr. Everest has been on the Plattsburgh State faculty since 1947. His latest book, "Rum Across the Border," is an oral history of the Prohibition Era in the Champlain Valley. He is the past president of the Clinton County Historical Association and a founding editor of the association's monthly publication.

ALUMNUS SELECTED AS NEW UPWARD BOUND DIRECTOR

Peter Paul Luguri, a 1973 graduate of the College, has been selected as director of the Upward Bound Program. He replaces Tom Moran who assumed the position of director of student development last September. Luguri has served for six years on the Willsboro Central School faculty as an English teacher and men's baseball and women's basketball coach. For the past eight years, he has been involved in the College's Upward Bound Summer Program as a tutor, dormitory director and teacher.

In announcing the appointment, Moran said that we was confident that "Luguri's background and expertise, especially with Plattsburgh's Upward Bound organization, will be of great benefit to local high school students who participate each year in the program." Joe Laramie, acting Upward Bound Director for the past year, will remain on the staff as associate director, a position he was promoted to in September 1977. This year 130 students from 21 high schools in Clinton, Essex and Franklin Counties are participating in the College's Upward Bound Program, funded currently under a three-year grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

107% OCCUPANCY RATE IN RESIDENCE HALLS; 3,033 STUDENTS LIVING ON CAMPUS

The number of students living three-to-a-room in campus residence halls has decreased by approximately two per cent since the opening day of the semester, according to the latest figures compiled by the Office of Residence Life. Presently, there are 208 "triples" in the College's 12-residence halls, representing a decrease of 58 tripled rooms in comparison with figures for the same time last year. The most recent housing figures also showed that 3,033 students are living in campus residence halls. Of that total 1,721 are women and 1,312 are men. This semester 1,573 students living on campus are returning upperclassmen.

NEW PARKING LOTS ALLOW FOR 146 ADDITIONAL SPACES; LIGHTING TO BE ADDED TO KEHOE LOT

Space for 146 additional faculty and student automobiles will become available with the completed construction of two new parking lots on campus. The lot recently constructed behind Beaumont Hall (Lot FT) will provide space for 67 vehicles, while the nearly completed Lot ET, located adjacent to Hudson Hall in the vicinity of Broad Street and Draper Avenue, will accommodate 79 additional cars. The two lots, constructed by Adirondack Structural Systems, Inc. of Plattsburgh, will be supplied with lighting, cemented curbs and sidewalks, and seeded landscape. In addition, construction is now under way to supply additional electrical lighting to the parking lot adjacent to the Kehoe Administration Building (Lot AF).

1,000 STUDENTS REQUEST ABSENTEE BALLOTS FOR NOVEMBER 6 CITY AND COUNTY ELECTIONS

Ann Beyer, a senior health education major and co-director of the Student Association's recent absentee voter registration drive, announced that approximately 1,000 students have registered for absentee ballot requests to vote in their respective counties during the November 6 state-wide city and county elections. Organizers of the registration drive enlisted fellow students Wednesday and Thursday of last week in the College Center and in campus residence halls. Beyer explained that organizers were happy with the number of students that registered. "The success of the registration seems to indicate that students are interested in the results of local elections and in the outcome of next year's presidential race," Beyer said. Absentee ballot registration requests must be mailed to individual County Boards of Elections to arrive before the October 8 deadline.

COLLEGE ADOPTS PHYSICS/ENGINEERING 3/2 PROGRAM WITH STONY BROOK

The College has formally adopted a physics/engineering 3/2 program with State University at Stony Brook, effective this semester. The program, similar to one being conducted with Clarkson College of Technology, will require students to spend three years at Plattsburgh State and two years at Stony Brook. Upon successfully completing the programs at both schools, a student will receive the B.S. degree in physics from Plattsburgh and the B.E. degree in engineering from Stony Brook. Students graduating from the program will have completed requirements for a career in electrical or mechanical engineering or engineering sciences. Dr. Paul Szydlik, professor of physics and coordinator of the College's 3/2 programs, explained that Plattsburgh is one of the first SUNY Arts and Science Colleges to implement such a program with Stony Brook's School of Engineering and Applied Sciences. Presently, Plattsburgh State students majoring in physics and enrolled in the 3/2 program will have a choice of either attending Stony Brook or Clarkson College after completing requirements on this campus.

MOBILE HOME ENERGY STUDY RECEIVES ADDITIONAL $31,000 GRANT

An additional grant of $31,000 to continue research into a study concerning the design of a practical application for conserving heating energy in early-model mobile home units has been awarded the College by the Empire State Electric Energy Research Corporation (ESERC). Dr. Rudolph Bobka, professor of chemistry and director of the original two-year research study funded by ESERC, announced that the additional grant monies will be used to measure the thermal performance of an early-model test mobile home in both an occupied and unoccupied state. According to Dr. Bobka, the study should produce a more accurate computer model of thermal performance than any currently available. Involved in the research will be Dr. Fred Kissner, associate professor at the Institute for Man and Environment, and Dr. Paul Szydlik, professor of physics.

Under the original ESERC grant, an early-model mobile home located at the William H. Miner Agricultural and Research Institute in Chazy, was retrofitted with additional heating insulation by Dr. Bobka and several members of the College faculty and student body. Results of the two-year study indicated that by following the safe, cost-effective, and practical guidelines applied by Dr. Bobka and his colleagues, an early-model mobile homeowner could save as much as 50 per cent on heating energy consumption. Research data compiled by the original mobile home study was published locally and also aroused interest among energy researchers from throughout the state. The two-year study was also featured in a summer edition of a nationwide mobile homeowners magazine.

DR. HUNT AWARDED $15,000 STIPEND TO ASSESS SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS IN VERMONT

Dr. John Hunt, professor of education, has been awarded a $15,000 stipend by the Professional Leadership Program located in College Park, MD., to serve as a research assistant in surveying the effectiveness of special education programs in Vermont public schools. Dr. Hunt is one of eight educators from throughout the nation selected to conduct similar studies in other states. In the next eight months, he will administer inventory interviews at six Vermont schools randomly selected from throughout the state and report his findings to both the Professional Leadership Program and the Vermont Department of Education. Dr. Hunt, presently on sabbatic leave at the University of Vermont under a SUNY Faculty Retraining Grant, is examining UVM's special education efforts in order to develop a similar program at Plattsburgh State. UVM's program, designed to meet the needs of rural areas, is nationally recognized as one of the first and finest for preparing itinerant teachers to provide assistance to regular classroom teachers working with exceptional children. Dr. Hunt has been a member of the College's education faculty since 1954 and received his Ph.D. degree from Columbia University.

SOUTHERN REGIONAL EDUCATION BOARD REPRESENTATIVES TO VISIT CAMPUS

The College has been selected for a campus visit by two representatives of the Southern Regional Education Board, of Atlanta, GA., on Monday, October 22. Under a grant from the Ford Foundation, representatives Dr. Jim Mingle, of the Southern Regional Education Board, and Dr. Donald M. Norris, director of Institutional Studies, University of Houston, will discuss institutional policy with members of the College's Executive Staff and Admissions Office. Diana Green, Director of Institutional Research and coordinator of the representatives' visit to campus, said that the College was recommended for the study by the New York State Education Department because of its past success and future plans for coping with the anticipated period of enrollment decline.

FOUR CANDIDATES VIE FOR HOMECOMING QUEEN; OFFICIAL CROWNING SCHEDULED FOR WEDNESDAY

Four College upperclassmen have been nominated as candidates for this year's Plattsburgh State University College Homecoming Queen. Jean Wohilleber, Student Association special weekends chairman, announced that elections for homecoming Queen will be held in the dining halls and the College Center from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. on Monday, October 15. The official crowning will take place on Wednesday, October 17, at 8 p.m. in the College Center Blue Room. This year's homecoming queen nominees, their class ranks and hometowns are: Deborah Cooper, junior, Hudson; Kathleen Gray, sophomore, Fonda; Maureen Rowan, junior, Albany; and Mary Beth VanDeveer senior, Middlesex.

FORENSICS UNION HOSTS 9TH ANNUAL TOURNAMENT THIS WEEKEND

Nine institutions have entered this weekend's field of forensic squads that will compete for the 9th Annual Plattsburgh State Forensic Tournament championship. Defending champion Emerson College leads the field which includes teams from West Point, Princeton, Penn State, Niagara University, and the University of Vermont. Tournament activities are scheduled for the College Center and Myers Fine Arts Building and will run from 12 noon until 8 p.m. Friday, and continue from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday. The event includes a variety of individual speaking competition and four-person debate. Al Montanaro, advisor/coach of the Plattsburgh State forensic team and director of the tournament, explained that the College's tournament is one of the earliest held anywhere in the East. The campus community and general public are invited to observe the rounds in progress. Specific events and schedules will be available in the lobby of the College Center both days of competition.

TEXTBOOK PRICES CONTINUE TO SKYROCKET; SALES INCREASE 13% IN ONE-YEAR PERIOD

If returning upperclassmen have noticed a substantial increase in the costs of textbooks this semester, then recent profit increases reported by textbook publishers should come as no surprise. According to estimates by the publishers' association, sales of new texts in 1978 reached $749 million, a 13 per cent increase over the previous year. Textbook publishers report that the textbook which costs $15.00 presently on college bookstore shelves cost nearly $20,000 to develop and produce. Today's textbook, publishers claim, is a different book than its counterpart in the early 1960's, when it cost $5, or the mid-1970's when it was about $11.

"Current textbooks are of superior quality in content and graphics and many are works of four-color art," explained College Store manager George Layman, who maintains that textbook publishing is a lucrative business. "The inflationary rise in textbook costs still only leaves our Store's profit margin at about 20 per cent, and that includes what I must pay our staff and what it costs to ship books to our campus." Layman sympathizes with students who must continually pay increased prices for books. Beginning in January he hopes to be able to pay half-price for returned books that will be used another semester. "Right now our staff is soliciting faculty to see what books currently in our store will be used again," Layman explained. "If we have a handle on what returned books will be used, then we can afford to buy back the books at half price."

FRISBEEES FLY AS RECORD NUMBERS PARTICIPATE IN FALL INTRAMURALS

Picture a game of non-contact rugby, exclude the running, and add a frisbee, and you have what turns out to be one of the College's new successful intramural programs introduced as a coed sport this fall. More than 100 participants divided into six men's and women's teams participated in this year's "frisbee league." That figure was just a fraction of the more than 2,100 students who participated in some type of fall intramural program. Leith Bardon, director of intramurals, announced that record numbers have joined the College's intramural activities. Large turnouts include 500 players and 27 teams in men's touch football; 590 participants and 44 teams in women's volleyball; and more than 650 men registered into 53 teams for men's broomball competition. "The intramural craze continues to grow and we're all happy with the turnout and attitude of the students," Bardon explained. "As long as we can get this type of participation, we are more than willing to try new sports like the frisbee league which began this fall."

CHANCELLOR EDWARD C. MCGUIRE, '57, TO BE HONORED AS 'ALUMNUS-OF-THE-YEAR'

Dr. Edward C. McGuire, chancellor of the Board of Higher Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a 1957 graduate of the College, will receive the Alumni Association's "Alumnus-of-the-Year" award, the association's highest citation, during Homecoming Weekend banquet ceremonies on Saturday. For Dr. McGuire, 46, who has held his current position since August 1978, the return to campus this weekend will be his first in any formal capacity since he received the bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Plattsburgh 22 years ago.

Following graduation (with honors) from Plattsburgh, Dr. McGuire attended Southern Illinois University where he received the M.S. degree in higher education. In 1968, Dr. McGuire received the degree of Doctor of Education from Wayne State University, and last year he earned the Jurist Doctorate from Delaware Law School. His career in higher education administration began in 1961 when he was named assistant to the president of the University of Rhode Island. Five years later he joined Rutgers University as dean of students and associate professor of psychology. In 1969 he became the vice president for student affairs and professor of psychology at Drexel University. In 1977, Dr. McGuire left Drexel to assume the position of commissioner of higher education for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The top educational administrator in the Bay State said he was both "delighted and flattered" to learn that he had been the choice of the committee of alumni established to screen nominees for the annual award. "I'm sure most people with similar credentials would say they feel the same as I do. Plattsburgh, as my first alma mater, is my first love among institutions. It always has been," Dr. McGuire declared.

STUDENTS AND ALUMNI TO ENJOY FULL HOMECOMING '79 CALENDAR OF ACTIVITIES

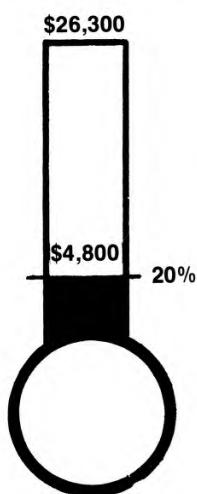

Homecoming '79 swings into full activity Friday, concluding months of planning by undergraduate committees and the Plattsburgh Alumni Association. Activities include luncheons, cocktail parties, dinners, fireworks, an all-day film festival, the annual Homecoming Parade beginning at the Grandway Plaza parking lot at 10 a.m. Saturday, and the Alumni Association's Awards Banquet on Saturday night. This year's Homecoming Queen, Mary Beth Van Derveer, a senior biology major from Middlesex, will preside over the 1979 Homecoming Parade.

Upwards of 550 alumni are expected to return to campus this weekend. The celebration for alumni begins at a wine and cheese reception on Friday evening at President Burke's home. Also on Friday night, the Cardinals open their 1979 hockey season with a homecoming exhibition contest against Colgate University at 7:30, at the Field House. Tickets for the game are .50¢ for students, $1.00 for non-PSUC students and $2.00 for adults. Tickets can be purchased at the College Center desk up until Friday afternoon. A fireworks display on the Cardinal Football Field will follow the hockey game along with a student/alumni reception in the Field House basketball court area.

On Saturday, the Cardinal men's soccer team will meet Concordia University at 1 p.m. near the Field House. During halftime ceremonies the President's Cup for community service, the Scholastic Cup for academic achievement, and awards for best float in the Homecoming Parade will be presented by President Burke. An arts and crafts fair will be conducted from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the College Center lobby.

Seventy alumni and friends of the College have registered for Saturday's Golden Anniversary Luncheon which will honor graduates from the Class of '29 and earlier. Alumni from nine other honored classes — those ending in 4 and 9 — have also scheduled Saturday class luncheons at various locations in the Plattsburgh area.

Alumnus-of-the-Year, Dr. Edward McGuire, will be the honored guest at Saturday evening's President's reception and banquet for alumni at the College Center. Student activities include a semi-formal at the Field House beginning at 9 p.m. Saturday and a Sunday film festival beginning at 1 p.m. in Hawkins Hall large auditorium.

COLLEGE RECEIVES $380,000 GRANT TO CONDUCT STATEWIDE CHILD NUTRITIONAL TRAINING PROGRAMS

The College's Home Economics Department has been designated by the New York State Department of Education to develop and implement a statewide program of instructional training for employees in school and child nutritional food service programs. The project will be funded through a $380,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and will include the services of Plattsburgh State teaching faculty and 11 full-time employees. George Bussell, assistant professor of home economics and director of the project, explained that the initial one-year grant is part of a long-term on-the-job training project in which the College will be responsible for identifying and preparing training modules in a broad spectrum of subjects that are important to the various staff and management personnel concerned with child nutritional programs in New York State.

Bussell, who has more than 20 years experience in school food service and is former director of child and school nutritional programs in New Hampshire, said that the College's training program will help the state comply with new guidelines incorporated in the National School Lunch Act. "Plattsburgh's effort will comprise the comprehensive development of preparing print-readycurricula, audio visual aids and textbook material for the training of child food service personnel," Bussell said. "In this first year our staff will primarily research and analyze the depth of content necessary to complete the learning cycle in food service positions ranging from management to entry level. Next year, with additional funding, we will take the training project into the field."

Plattsburgh faculty included in the training project are Dr. Warren Bentzen, Dr. Jane Gore, Dr. Carrie Harris, Tara McPeek and Dr. Sarah Stephens of the Home Economics Department; and Dr. Annette Manganel and Dr. J. Michael Ritty of the Education Department.

SUNY TEAM'S CAMPUS VISIT DRAWS PRAISES OF FACULTY, GENERAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

A team of State University academic program and policy analysts who visited this campus on October 11-12, lauded the efforts of the faculty and staff in their "purpose and commitment to good education, and their willingness to think anew about both old and new problems."

In a letter to President Burke, Dr. Kenneth M. MacKenzie, associate vice chancellor for academic programs and planning, commended the College for its efforts and the success it has achieved in giving significant new direction to Plattsburgh State. Dr. MacKenzie, who led the SUNY contingent's visit to campus, wrote: "I came away from the visit much impressed with the spirit and dedication that pervades the staff and faculty at your campus. I especially enjoyed meeting with your General Education Committee. That group is a lively, imaginative and talented one, and I am sure their collective influence upon the College's curriculum will be greatly beneficial. I am not only impressed with the imaginative direction of these new programs but also the quality of individuals involved with them."

Dr. MacKenzie concluded by praising the College's student research analysis. "I believe the research analysis you are doing on student characteristics and outcomes promises in time to be an extremely important tool in guiding both the campus' admission policy and curricular structure," he wrote.

COLLEGE RECEIVES $10,000 IN MATCHING NSF FUNDS FOR PURCHASE OF ANALYZER

The Institute for Man and Environment has recently received a $10,000 matching funds grant from the National Science Foundation to purchase an atomic absorption spectrophotometer, an instrument used to chemically analyze soil and water samples. Dr. John Malanchuk, associate professor of environmental science and author of the NSF grant, explained that the analyzer is the most sophisticated instrument currently available in the field for accurately measuring the amount of metal nutrients (i.e. calcium, zinc, lead, sodium, and potassium) in test samples of soil and water. The analyzer, located at the Miner Center campus in Chazy, will be used in determining chemical balances in agricultural soils, nutrients for plant growth, soil and water pollution problems, and in basic faculty and student ecological research.

According to Dr. Malanchuk, the analyzer will be used primarily for educational purposes by students enrolled in the environmental science resident research semester program. "Students will gain valuable experience in working with an instrument commonly used by environmental agencies in the field," Dr. Malanchuk said. "Also, the College's access to such a sophisticated instrument will undoubtedly be an advantage in obtaining future environmental science research grants."

CAMPUS UNITED WAY EFFORT TOPS THE HALFWAY MARK

With contributions still expected from campus faculty teams, the College's 1980 United Way effort reached 54 per cent ($13,039.63) of the goal at the beginning of the third week of solicitations. Reporting in with more than 100 per cent of their goals are Arts and Science Administration (122%), General Administration (131%) and Student Services (104%). Arts and Science "D", which includes business/economics, computer science, earth science, philosophy, physics, and political science, lead all faculty teams with 61 per cent ($913.50) already contributed. Other campus teams over 50 per cent include Maintenance and Operations "A" (55%) and the Campus School (53%).

COLLEGE BEOG RECIPIENTS NEARLY DOUBLE; PEER PROGRAMS LAUNCHED TO PROVIDE INFORMATION

Last fall's Congressional approval of new Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) requirements has provided financial aid to nearly 1,100 more Plattsburgh State students for 1979-80 than in the previous year. In a memorandum to President Burke, the College's Financial Aid Office reported that 2,500 Plattsburgh State students will be awarded some type of BEOG assistance during the current academic year — compared to 1,415 students last year. More than $2,100,000 in BEOG monies has been made available to Plattsburgh this year, representing an average of approximately $800 in financial aid per student. According to Suzanne M. Sokolowski, director of financial aid, the reason for the large increase in support funds to the College was attributed to new BEOG legislation extending eligibility to students from families with incomes up to $25,000. In addition, the College also received an increase of more than $160,000 in support of the 1979-80 National Direct Student Loans, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, and work-study programs, over last year.

Sokolowski announced that in order to make students more aware of financial aid benefits, the Financial Aid Office has developed an On-Campus Peer Recruiter Program. The program involves the selection of dormitory residents as peer financial aid advisors. Seven students have been selected and trained for the initial program and are located in various residence halls. "Each financial aid peer recruiter will have dormitory office hours in which students can find out what type of financial aid is available to them," Sokolowski said. "New legislation is always changing financial aid requirements and many students are unaware that they can receive aid." Sokolowski stated that the program will help the College enlarge its pool of students seeking financial aid. "A larger pool of students on file with our office each year," Sokolowski said, "will increase our chances of obtaining more financial aid support in the future." Information on the location and office hours of financial aid peer recruiters can be obtained by calling the Financial Aid Office at 2072.

STUDENTS VOTE NOV. 8 ON PROPOSAL TO RAISE MANDATORY ACTIVITY FEE

Next Thursday the student body will vote on a proposal to raise the student mandatory activity fee. The referendum calls for raising the fee from $35 to $40 per semester. This will be the first time in more than seven years that students have been asked to vote on such a proposal. In the spring of 1977, a referendum making the activity fee mandatory for all full-time students carried by more than 90 per cent of the vote. Kevin Stewart, Student Association president, cited inflation as the major reason for asking to raise the fee. This year the mandatory fee generated $342,000 in revenue that was allocated to 74 campus organizations including intercollegiate athletics. According to Stewart, this year's SA budget represents only a 1.8 per cent increase in revenue in support of twice as many campus organizations as funded only four years ago. The increase, if approved, will mean an extra $25,000 in the SA budget, effective next semester. "We have had to make drastic cuts across the board for many campus groups because of our overburdened budget," Stewart explained. "In the past 14 years we have only raised the fee by $4 and I believe we are justified in asking to raise it more."

Already, Cardinal Points, the student newspaper funded by the mandatory fee, has urged approval of the $5 increase. Designated polling places for next Thursday's referendum include the College Center Lobby and Algonquin and Clinton Dining Halls. Polling places will be open from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m.

DR. KISSNER'S SOLAR WATER HEATER NOW IN OPERATION

Dr. Fritz Kissner, associate professor of environmental science and the recipient of two State University Research Grants to study the feasibility of freeze protection methods for solar water heating, has installed a solar water heater in the West Chazy home of his colleague, Dr. John Malanchuk. The unit, believed to be one of the first to become operational in the northeast, is unique because it uses a non-toxic refrigerant (freon 114) as a working fluid. Dr. Kissner selected freon as the working fluid after studying various collector liquids and their advantages in solar units located in areas experiencing freezing temperatures.

The system includes three outside solar collectors and a stainless steel water tank located on the second floor of the home. All piping and components in the freon loop are of silver soldered copper. The unit is being operated along with the home's conventional electric water heater as a backup system. Dr. Kissner and several students will monitor the home's hot water usage through the upcoming winter and spring months and compile data on the distribution of energy in the solar unit as well as the average amount of water and energy used. "Hopefully," Dr. Kissner points out, "the data collected over the next few months will help us to ascertain the feasibility and practicality of solar heated water units in this climate."

CAMPUS UNITED WAY GOAL AT 63%; STUDENTS PLAN SATURDAY 'FUND RUN'

The Professional and General Studies "A" Team led all campus groups the fourth week of solicitations for the 1980 Clinton County United Way Campaign. The "A" team submitted 80 per cent ($1,781.60) of their goal to help the College's United Way effort reach 63 per cent ($15,211.33) of this year's $26,300 goal. Other campus teams reaching 50 per cent of their goal or better include Maintenance and Operations "B" at 58 per cent ($749.58) and Arts and Science "B" reporting 51 per cent ($1,026.00) of their goal.

The students will launch their 1980 United Way effort this Saturday (Nov. 3) with a five-mile "Fund Run" on the College's cross-country course beginning at 12 noon at the Field House. Registration for the run is $3.00 and all contributions will go to the student's $2,700 campus United Way goal. The run is sponsored by Whiteface Residence Hall and Sigma Tau Sigma Fraternity.

PLATTSBURGH FIRM AWARDED CONTRACT FOR ALTERATIONS TO PODIUM DECK

Murnane Associate, Inc., of Plattsburgh has been awarded the contract for the first phase of reconstruction of the College's podium level deck. The bid includes the redesign of the main monumental stairway leading from the plaza between the College Center and Myers Fine Arts Building to the podium's second level. According to J. Derek Allan, facilities director, the plan calls for reducing the width on the stairs leading to the first landing and installing a planted embankment in the center of the stairway. In addition, the west side stairway leading to the library side of the podium will be eliminated and another planted embankment installed. This will leave only the east side stairway as access to the main podium level from the library side. Allan explained that the construction project will begin in the spring and should be completed by mid-summer.

Plans for the second phase of podium reconstruction are still under design and no formal bid proposals have been completed. Second phase reconstruction plans include installing a brick paver to the podium level walkway between Yokum Hall, the Myers Fine Arts Building and Feinberg Library. Reconstruction will include a waterproof membrane below the wearing surface, seating areas atop the podium, designated areas for planting shrubbery or trees, and a new drainage system to remove surface water.

STUDENTS DESIGNING ENERGY SAVING PROGRAM FOR CAMPUS BUILDING

Students in Dr. Fritz Kissner's Appropriate Energy Technology course will not be taking a final test this semester. Instead, the environmental science associate professor has asked each student to design a safe, cost-effective energy saving plan for the College's 133 Court Street residence housing the Department of International Education/Canadian Studies and the Upward Bound Program. Dr. Kissner maintains that the course assignment is a hypothetical approach to a practical energy conservation problem in which students will learn the procedures involved in designing an energy conservation plan for a private residence or building. Each student will be required to design a model of the heating energy load of the building, implement a safe, cost-effective energy saving retrofit of the home, and submit a detailed list of the cost of materials and construction to complete the project. Dr. Kissner explained that each energy saving plan submitted by students will be graded on practicality and cost-effectiveness, including compliance to all city and state building safety code regulations. In addition, each student will be required to devise some type of economic payback analysis which will describe the length of time the proposed plan would pay for itself in energy savings.

BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT FORMS LOCAL CAMPUS/COMMUNITY ADVISORY COUNCIL

Members of the College's Business and Economics Department have formed an advisory council composed of local business people, alumni, and themselves to foster more interaction between the campus and the business community. Dr. Prem Gandhi, chairperson of the business and economics department, said the council should help to place accounting and management, and marketing students as interns in local businesses and also help in the future recruitment of quality business and economics faculty members. In turn, the department plans to serve the local business community by offering specialized workshops and symposia concerned with problems and issues relevant to the economic stability of the area. Members of the council include 12 representatives from local banks, industry, state and federal agencies, and franchises; three alumni; and five members of the business and economics faculty. The advisory council's initial meeting is scheduled for Friday (Nov. 2) at 3 p.m. in the Conference Room of the College Center. A reception will follow in the Cardinal Lounge.

COLLEGE ASKS SUNY FOR $1.2 MILLION INCREASE IN BUDGET

The College has requested a $1.2 million recommended increase in its 1980-81 fiscal budget to help offset the purchase of supplies and rising utility rates. President Burke's budget request submitted to the State University Board of Trustees asked for a $17,618,000 operating budget for next fiscal year. More than half of the requested increase is for salary hikes for faculty and staff that were negotiated within President Carter's seven per cent guidelines.

Two weeks ago, the SUNY Board of Trustees approved a $936.7 million budget for operations at its State campuses during fiscal 1980-81. More than 50 per cent of the proposed $96.8 million increase over the 1979-80 base is necessary solely to meet inflation. In the course of their October meeting, Board members were informed that in excess of $56.8 million (60 per cent of the overall increase sought) will be required to fund commitments over which SUNY has no control, including negotiated salary increases and spiraling costs of utilities and supplies.

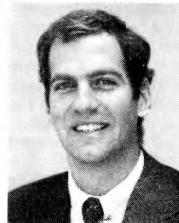

NEGOTIATED EXPERIMENTAL EMPLOYEE COURSE REGISTRATION PROGRAM EFFECTIVE SPRING SEMESTER

This month the State University Board of Trustees, in accordance with the provisions of the collective bargaining agreement between SUNY and United University Professions, Inc., will establish an experimental course registration program available at all SUNY campuses to employees in the SUNY Professional Services Negotiating Unit. The program will be effective with the spring semester 1980 and will operate on an experimental basis through June 30, 1982. The program will offer courses to employees on a "space available" basis. When space is available, employees may enroll on either a credit or non-credit basis in college courses offered at SUNY campuses without payment of tuition.

According to the provisions, employees must meet all course prerequisites and may enroll in a maximum of one course per semester. Minimum enrollment requirements established by the College as a necessary condition for offering a course will not be affected by employees interested in enrolling in a course on a space available basis. In the near future, the College will designate a campus officer to implement the program campus-wide. Further information on how employees can register for courses under the new provisions can be obtained by calling the Office of Personnel and Affirmative Action, 564-3062.

WILLIAMSON ELECTED PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL TAC ORGANIZATION

R. Thomas Williamson, director of the Technical Assistance Center (TAC) at the College, was elected president of the National Association of Management and Technical Assistance Centers (NAMTAC) at the organization's recent annual meeting in Memphis, TN. Williamson will serve a two-year term. NAMTAC represents 45 TAC agencies located on major colleges campuses throughout the U.S. The organization's main objective is to promote economic development on both regional and national scales. As president, Williamson will provide leadership for the organization's 110 professional members, advise federal government agencies on policy regarding economic development, and help to upgrade TAC agencies through seminars and training sessions. Williamson has been director of TAC at Plattsburgh since 1976. This year he was also elected to the National Association of Development Organization's (NADO) 1979 Committee on Economic Development.

DRS. BEACH, FAIRWEATHER, PUBLISH STATE AGRICULTURAL ATLAS

A 120-page New York State Agricultural Atlas containing more than 50 maps depicting data compiled and tabulated from the Agricultural Census of New York State has been published by Drs. Richard Beach and Malcolm Fairweather, associate professors of geography. The atlas is the first of its kind which depicts the spatial perspective of New York in terms of agricultural analysis. The maps reveal patterns of the various farming characteristics in specific regions of the state. For example, the atlas indicates that the largest farms and the greatest proportion of farms raising hay, dairy cattle, and grain corn are located in the North Country. According to the authors, the atlas should provide information that could help increase the efficiency and productivity of New York farming and also assist policy makers and analysts in obtaining regional agricultural information. The atlas, which was three years in the making, was researched by students in the geography and environmental science disciplines.

UNITED WAY FUND DRIVE AT 81.4%; STUDENTS URGED TO FAST ON NOV. 14

The campus fund drive on behalf of the 1980 Clinton County United Way campaign jumped nearly 20 points during the fifth week of solicitations. Leading the way in helping the College reach 81.4 per cent ($19,617.69) of its $26,300 goal was Arts and Science "B". The "B" team stretched their contributions to 36 per cent over goal, representing $2,716. General Services reported 98 per cent ($2,548) of their goal accomplished. Student Affairs pushed farther over the 100 per cent mark with contributions totaling $1,830 (114%). Included in last week's solicitations was a $300 corporate gift from the Marriott Corporation.

Students have their campus-wide United Way fast scheduled for Wednesday, (Nov. 14). Students are urged to give up at least one meal on Wednesday (lunch or dinner) with the percentage of the food costs going to the students' United Way goal. A wine and cheese reception at 4 p.m. Friday (Nov. 9) and a "Pub Night" at 9 p.m. that day are planned for this weekend.

BOOK THEFT RATE CUT BY ONE-THIRD

A recently compiled inventory of the Feinberg Library's collections indicates that losses due to theft are lower on this campus than most comparable institutions, and that the annual loss rate has been reduced since the new facility opened its doors in 1978. Robert Burton, director of libraries, credits the reduction in book theft to the amount of available study space in the new library and the nearly two-year-old tattle-tape book detection system. According to inventory data, book theft in the library has been curtailed by nearly one-third. "Reducing the book theft rate is important in light of steady-state budgets and inflation," Burton said. "The Library has been required to restrict its purchases carefully, and to deny requests for the purchase of duplicate copies. The greatest assistance the Library can receive from members of the campus community is their support in making it clear to the irresponsible few that book theft or mutilation will not be tolerated."

COLLEGE EXPERIENCES LARGEST FOREIGN STUDENT ENROLLMENT ON RECORD; 30 COUNTRIES REPRESENTED

The figure represents the largest foreign student population on campus since the foreign student program was implemented more than 15 years ago. The largest representation of foreign students comes from Canada, Nigeria, Lebanon, Jordan and Iran, with the majority enrolled in the College's business and economics and computer science programs.

Nearly 1,700 on-campus students were expected to give up either lunch or dinner yesterday (Nov. 14) on behalf of the 1980 Clinton County United Way Campaign. In addition, students have introduced a new event for attracting United Way contributions. A penny collection sponsored by several student groups is now underway in hopes of breaking the Guinness Book of World Records for the longest string of pennies lined end-to-end. The penny drive will continue for the next few weeks with the actual record-breaking event slated in front of Macdonough Hall beginning at 3 p.m. on Friday, November 30.

250 SENIORS SHARE IN CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT INFORMATION SESSIONS

This semester's 11 Senior Group Information Sessions directed by the College's Career Planning and Placement Office were well-attended by graduating seniors who will be receiving degrees at the end of the 1979-80 academic year. Carolyn Delcore, acting director of the Career Planning and Placement Office, announced that the sessions recorded the largest attendance ever with 250 graduating seniors participating. The information sessions were divided into programs for students in the liberal arts, education, business, home economics and nursing disciplines. Each session concentrated on initiating the individual career placement process for students. Included in each session was information on gathering references and preparing resumes, general data on what should be done in terms of placement, and information about graduate school. Delcore indicated that a large number of seniors also took part in her office's six fall semester resume workshops and announced that after the Thanksgiving Break the Career Planning and Placement Office will begin their job interview training sessions. Session dates and times will be listed in the WEEKLY. Also, Delcore reminds all graduating seniors that information and resume workshop sessions will again be offered next semester.

12 STUDENTS SELECTED FOR FIRST-EVER IN VITRO CELL PROGRAM

Twelve Plattsburgh State undergraduates have been selected by a biology department evaluation committee to participate in the College's first-ever In Vitro Cell Biology program in conjunction with the W. Alton Jones Cell Science Center in Lake Placid. The 12 students were selected among 16 junior and senior biology and chemistry students that applied for the resident research semester in Lake Placid which begins in January. The 15-week program will provide students with additional experience and exposure to diverse investigation in cell and tissue biology. Dr. H.Z. Liu, chairperson of the biological sciences department, explained that selection to the program was based on the students' faculty recommendations, completion of necessary prerequisite courses, and overall grade point average. Plans are underway for the College to offer the program SUNY-wide to students interested in cellular biology in the spring of 1981.

'ULTIMATE FRISBEE': THE NEW GAME ON CAMPUS

Ultimate frisbee, a fast-moving game played within the same rules as soccer and football, is becoming one of the fastest growing sports among campus frisbee tossers. More than 50 enthusiasts have been turning up at the Field House on Friday evenings to participate in the sport and the numbers continue to grow. Robert Rosen, a senior accounting major from North Bellmore and organizer of the Friday evening frisbee group, says the large support for the sport stems from this fall's intramural frisbee competition. "Since frisbee intramurals stopped we've found more and more people interested in playing frisbee," Rosen says. "Ultimate frisbee is appearing as a popular sport on many college campuses and we hope the interest continues here through the winter."

MRS. JUDITH L. DUKEN APPOINTED TO STATE UNIVERSITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Mrs. Judith L. Duken, chairman of the Plattsburgh College Council and a 1959 graduate of the College, has been appointed by Gov. Carey to a nine-year term on the State University Board of Trustees. The appointment of Mrs. Duken will become effective January 1, 1980, pending confirmation by the New York State Senate. The Governor's action designates Mrs. Duken as the first State University of New York alumnus to be named to the University's governing board. In accepting the Trusteeship, Mrs. Duken will be required to resign her position as chairman of the Plattsburgh College Council, a post she has held since 1977.

"I am, of course, both honored and flattered to be named a trustee of our nation's largest, and greatest State University system," said Mrs. Duken. "If my appointment is confirmed, I will pledge my very best to help the University achieve the standards of excellence its constituents aspire to, and the people of our state deserve. I shall miss my association with my alma mater, which is truly one of SUNY's most outstanding arts and science colleges. I am grateful to the Governor and others, who supported my nomination, for their confidence."

"We are proud to have a graduate and College Council member of this institution appointed to State University's Board of Trustees," remarked College President Joseph C. Burke, in commenting on Mrs. Duken's appointment. "As President of this College, I have been impressed with her integrity, her keen intelligence, and her grasp of the problems in higher education. Mrs. Duken will be the kind of Trustee that I and the presidents of SUNY institutions will be proud to work with. It is especially appropriate that Mrs. Duken fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Maurice T. Moore, former chairperson of the Trustees."

Mrs. Duken will become one of 16 trustees representing various regions of New York. The Board determines all policies that govern 34 of SUNY's four-year campuses, agricultural and technical schools, and specialized colleges. Mrs. Duken, who graduated from Plattsburgh with a Bachelor of Science in Education, also holds the Master of Science degree (1973) and the Certificate of Advanced Study (1976) in educational administration from the College. She has been a fifth-grade teacher at Oak Street Elementary School for the past eight years, and held several teaching positions in the City of Plattsburgh for the past 20 years.

SUNY BOARD OF TRUSTEES CHAIRMAN TO VISIT CAMPUS ON FRIDAY

Donald M. Blinken, chairman of the State University Board of Trustees, will make his first visit to this campus in an official capacity on Friday (Nov. 30) to meet with College administrators, faculty, and student government officers. Blinken's one-day visit will include meetings with President Joseph C. Burke, Vice Presidents Eldridge Roark, Bernard Seawell, and Jerome Supple, other members of Dr. Burke's executive staff, and a representative of the admissions office staff, College Foundation, alumni affairs, Technical Assistance Center, and Student Association. Blinken will be briefed on the College's special academic programs with faculty members involved in the interdisciplinary humanities curriculum, freshman seminars, and the in vitro cell biology program. His trip to Plattsburgh will include a three-hour visit to Clinton Community College and will conclude with an evening reception at President Burke's home.

Blinken has been a member of the SUNY Board of Trustees since 1976 and was appointed chairman of the Board in the summer of 1978, replacing Mrs. Maurice T. Moore. A native of New York City, Blinken has been involved in the retailing and banking business in New York and London. SA MEMBERS GO TO THE POLLS ON TUESDAY; FOUR CANDIDATES SEEK PRESIDENCY

In what student officials contend is one of the largest fields of candidates in recent years, four Plattsburgh State upperclassmen will be vying for the presidency of the Student Association in Tuesday's (Dec. 4) SA elections. As of the Friday, November 16 filing deadline, 26 students had registered for the 15 available SA Senate seats. In other races, two students are on the ballot for vice president for finances; two are seeking to become executive vice president; two students are running for vice president for academics; and two are vying for chief justice court of appeals. Unopposed for SA offices are candidates for vice president for student services, vice president for activities; vice president for the arts, and student assembly delegate.

The four students running for SA president are: Ann Beyer, a junior health education major from Buffalo; Irving Flaum, a senior philosophy major from Hudson; Robert France, a senior business and economics major from Ballston Lake; and Vincent McGough, a senior political science major from Plattsburgh.

SENATE REVISES REGULATIONS CONCERNING CHEATING

A long-awaited, campus-wide policy dealing with student cheating has been revised and sent to President Burke for approval by the Faculty Senate, which met Tuesday (Nov. 27). The Senate's version of the policy was substantially revised from the original regulations drafted by the Senate Standing Committee on Undergraduate Studies. Details of the policy will be announced in a future issue of WEEKLY pending action by President Burke. In other business, the Senate passed a resolution asking that the College's academic calendar be determined and published one year in advance.

COLLEGE'S NEW VIEWBOOK RECEIVES HIGH PRAISES FROM SUNY OFFICIALS

The College's newest admissions viewbook, published by the Office of College Relations, has been lauded by State University officials in Albany as one of the best ever produced among comparable SUNY institutions. Comments included a letter to President Burke from Chancellor Dr. Clifton R. Wharton, Jr., who wrote: "The publication is very attractive and presents your campus in a most favorable light. Congratulations, too, on having your alumni association fund its publication! That's the kind of support we need to encourage throughout SUNY."

From the SUNY University Affairs Office, Harry Charlton, communications officer for SUNY's Central Office, conveyed to the College Relations staff that the Viewbook was, in his opinion, the best he has seen during his many years at State University. He expressed the opinion that, in view of the College's successful admission effort over the past few years, the Viewbook will be an added important vehicle in continuing to attract students to this campus. He felt the layout, copy and photographs included in the Viewbook were of top quality and that the entire publication is graphically attractive and gives an honest, thoughtful and thorough portrayal of the Plattsburgh campus.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION'S ORIGINAL PHOTOGRAPHIC PRINTS TO BE ON PERMANENT DISPLAY IN KENT GALLERY

Two original photographic prints by world renown photographer Ansel Adams will be put on permanent display in the Rockwell Kent Gallery this week in an official unveiling scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday (Nov. 29). The two prints were purchased nine years ago by the Student Association for approximately $350 when they appeared on display as part of the official dedication of the Myers Fine Arts Building. The two prints, entitled "Fern Spring, Yosemite Valley," (11" x 14") and "Moonrise, Hernandez, New Mexico," (16" x 20"), were featured in a recent Time magazine cover article on the famous American photographer. Edward Brohel, director of art exhibitions, announced that the hanging of the Adams' photographs will institute a curatorial agreement between the Student Association and the Kent Gallery. Brohel believes that the SA's two Adams' photographs are only among 1,000 prints developed from the original negative and estimates their current collective worth as well over $8,000.

COLLEGE ACTIVELY SEEKING ARTICULATION AGREEMENTS

In an effort to continually attract transfer students to campus, the College has stepped up efforts this semester to obtain articulation agreements with State University two-year institutions. The Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs has reported that 10 SUNY two-year institutions have been contacted concerning articulation program agreements with Plattsburgh. This semester the College reached a major articulation agreement with Clinton Community College that provides accounting majors with associate degrees the opportunity to transfer to Plattsburgh and complete their undergraduate requirements within two years.

Dr. Richard Robbins, acting associate vice president for academic affairs and campus liaison for the College's articulation program, explained that Plattsburgh is actively seeking agreements with all SUNY two-year schools in such areas as business, child and family service, computer science, environmental science, food and nutrition and health education. "Our major thrust is to reach agreements with community colleges that will allow their graduates to complete their bachelor's degree at Plattsburgh within two years," Dr. Robbins said. "Much of the groundwork for these programs has been laid by faculty members interested in attracting transfer students to campus in their respective disciplines." Dr. Robbins encourages all faculty interested in implementing articulation agreements with two-year schools to contact his office.

$1 MILLION REQUESTED BY SUNY FOR COLLEGE'S 1980-81 CAPITAL BUDGET

State University, recognizing the College's major areas of construction, planning, and repair projects for the upcoming fiscal year, has submitted to the New York State Division of the Budget a 1980-81 capital budget request for this campus totaling more than $1 million. J. Derek Allan, facilities director, stated that $248,000 of the capital budget request is earmarked for two construction projects that, if approved, will be undertaken in 1980. The projects include continued modification of campus buildings in compliance with state fire safety codes (i.e., installation of smoke detectors, sprinkler systems, fire exits, etc.); and removal of the "annex buildings" located behind Hawkins Hall. According to Allan, the removal of the two buildings will allow the area to be re-landscaped and will provide additional parking spaces.

For future construction, the College has requested architectural and engineering contracts for (1) restoration work to Hawkins Hall; (2) a study for proposed construction to complete the unfinished parking lot surrounding Champlain Valley Hall; and (3) additional proposed construction of facilities for the physically handicapped. In addition, the College's capital budget request includes more than $450,000 for 25 specified projects requiring rehabilitation and minor repair to existing facilities.

PRESIDENT BURKE APPROVES NEW REGULATIONS CONCERNING CHEATING

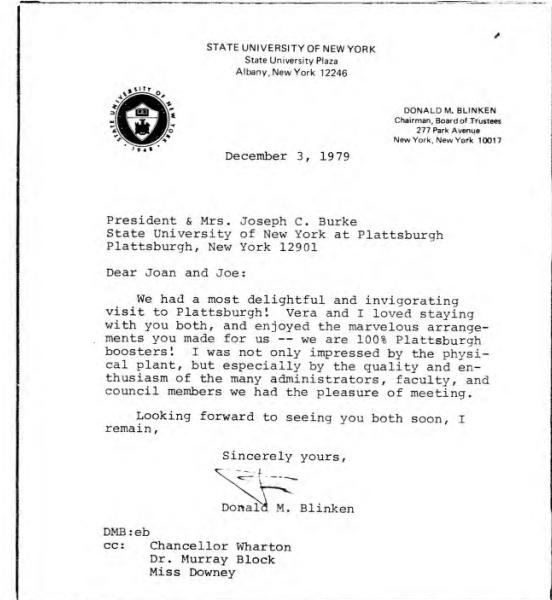

A recent Faculty Senate resolution, defining cheating as "an unethical practice which strikes at the heart of academic life," was approved last week by President Burke. The new regulations describe forms of cheating "as copying answers, giving or receiving unpermitted aid in both classroom and take-home examinations, and plagiarism." The regulations will go into effect next semester.

According to the new policy guidelines, any incident of cheating would allow for both the student and instructor to proceed through three levels of recourse. First, the instructor must have evidence of a student cheating and provide opportunity for the student to respond to the allegations. If the student denies or does not respond to the allegations, then an informal hearing must be held with the department chairperson, and an unbiased student and member of the professional staff within ten days of the request. If the hearing results in the student being found not guilty of the charge, then a grade without penalty will be recorded. However, if found guilty a student may be: (1) failed in the course, or (2) suspended or dismissed from the College.

The regulations also state that if a student is found guilty of cheating on two or more occasions, a committee comprised of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and two faculty members will determine after all evidence is presented whether the student (1) will remain at the College; (2) will be suspended for a specified time after which the student may be re-admitted; or (3) will be dismissed permanently.

STUDENTS GO OVER THE TOP FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR

For the third consecutive year student contributions to the 1980 Clinton County United Way fund drive shattered all previous records as the College's goal inched closer to the 100 per cent mark. With totals still coming from a world-record seeking 60,000 penny collection, student contributions to date reached a record total $3,220.75 — $520.75 (119%) over their goal. The students' total brought the College's United Way contributions to just $66.00 short of the $24,300 goal for 1980.

COLLEGE'S 1979-80 COST HIKES LOWER THAN NATIONAL AVERAGE

Increased costs to attend Plattsburgh State this fall are nearly two per cent under the national average reported in a recent study completed by the U.S. College Board. The study, compiled by the Board's Scholarship Service Division, indicated that total college expenses for 1979-80 have increased an average of nine per cent at public schools across the country as compared to one year ago. The national average is nearly two per cent higher than the 7.1 increase ($250) that students at the College will pay this year in total expenses compared to 1978-79. According to the national report, "total college expenses" took into account what students will pay this year in tuition and fees, room and board, books and supplies, and recreation and travel. The College Board's study went on to say that the average cost for on-campus students attending four-year colleges in 1979-80 is about $3,258 as compared to an average of $5,526 at four-year private institutions. The study further stated that college costs at private institutions rose 10.6 per cent as compared to a year ago.

STUDENT SENATE VOTES IN FAVOR OF SASU MEMBERSHIP

By a vote of 7-5, the Student Senate voted in favor Tuesday night to become the 23rd State University student government body to join rank in the Student Association of State University (SASU). Recently, SASU was recognized as the official voice of student government within State University and has represented student interests in several governing units affecting SUNY-wide policy. Membership into the organization will require the College's SA to pay a $4,500 annual fee equating to approximately .85¢ a year for full-time Plattsburgh State students. Plattsburgh will be allowed to select two students as SASU delegates who will represent the College at SASU meetings in Albany. Kevin Stewart, out-going SA president, was pleased with the Senate's action. "I believe our student leaders will now be better informed on SUNY issues with this type of representation in Albany," Stewart said. Stewart outlined SASU's main objectives this year as lobbying for SUNY's 1980-81 fiscal budget, student funding for intercollegiate athletics, area voting rights for students, and more financial aid funding for students attending SUNY institutions. The College will officially become a member of SASU on January 1.

COLLEGE REDUCES ENERGY USAGE; COST OF FUEL CLIMBS

Information compiled by the Facilities Planning Office indicates that while the College burned almost 650,000 fewer gallons of oil last year than in 1973, its fuel bill by comparison has risen greater than 63 per cent. Using the most recent fuel statistics available, J. Derek Allan, facilities director and chairperson of the Campus Energy Committee, prepared the latest fuel consumption figures by comparing the College's fuel bills and energy usage prior to the gasoline and oil crunch of 1974. "It would be nice to look back to cost figures for 1973, for example, and report that we held the line in expenditures for oil in comparison with this year," Allan said. "But the cost for fuel oil has increased by eight hundred per cent in the last six or seven years, from about seven cents per gallon to fifty-six cents."

Allan cited the campus' three-year-old computerized energy management system — the first to be installed at any SUNY institution — as the College's principal energy saving device. The system has kept the College's academic and residence hall buildings between 65° and 68° in winter, and activated the air conditioning system when outside temperatures rise above 78°.

Although the College's fuel cost figures indicate only "moderate" savings, Allan maintains that the College has reduced its consumption of electricity substantially. Kilowatt usage in 1978 was down more than two million hours from 1973. What doesn't show up in tabulation, however, is that the College has occupied two of its largest and most frequently visited buildings since 1973 — the College Center and Feinberg Library.

COLLEGE SURPASSES 1980 UNITED WAY GOAL OF $24,300

With student contributions topping nearly 150 per cent of their goal ($4,088.68), the campus campaign in support of the United Way of Clinton County has surpassed its goal for 1980. Vice President for Business and Finance Bernard J. Seawell, chairperson of the College Division fund drive, reported at the close of the 11th week of solicitations that campus community contributions totaled $25,156.77. That amount, he said, represents 103.5 per cent of the overall goal ($24,300) established for the College. The number of contributors this year increased by 22 in comparison with 1979 campaign totals (from 559 to 581) and the number that opted to give via payroll deduction stood at 317. College divisions reporting 100 per cent or more of their goal included Arts and Science "B" (153.2%), General Administration (130.6%), Student Services (114.4%), Business Affairs (104.2%), and General Services (99.5%). "We are indeed gratified that the entire college community rallied to meet this year's United Way goal," Seawell said. "The College has always identified itself as an integral part of this community and reaching our United Way target only re-establishes that we are sensitive to the needs of Clinton County residents." This year's College contribution to the United Way represents nearly 12 per cent of the County's overall $299,410 goal.

TRUAX FEATURED SPEAKER AT MID-YEAR COMMENCEMENT

David Truax, director of admissions and a 1979 recipient of the Chancellor's Award for Excellence, will be the principal speaker during informal commencement exercises honoring December graduates of the College. The commencement program is scheduled for Friday (Dec. 21) at 2 p.m. in Hawkins Hall Large Auditorium.

Truax's topic will stress the various commitments and new challenges that college graduates will face in the 1980's. Truax was invited to address the December graduates by President Joseph C. Burke.

Nearly 300 students have applied as candidates for bachelor's or master's degrees or for Certificates of Advanced Study at the end of the fall term. Approximately one-quarter of that number are expected to take part in Friday's ceremony. All participants are requested to assemble in the corridor adjacent to the small auditorium in the building no later than 1:30 p.m.

President Burke will preside at commencement and confer degrees. Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Jerome Supple, will present the candidates and attorney Louis E. Wolfe, a member of the College Council, will give the congratulatory remarks. A reception for the graduates and their guests will be held in the College Center Ballroom immediately following the program.

The graph shows how the College has successfully conserved energy in the face of rising fuel costs over a six-year period.

OIR SURVEY LISTS MAJOR FACTORS ATTRACTING NEW STUDENTS TO CAMPUS

Freshman students attending this past summer's orientation sessions, and, who completed the College's outcomes survey, once again indicated that Plattsburgh's academic programs, scholastic reputation, and geographical location were the three major factors influencing their decision to attend the College. The Office of Institutional Research's survey, used for the past five years in recording why students enroll at the College, was completed this summer by more than 900 entering freshmen (80% of the freshman class). Their responses agreed with those of the past four freshman classes that the above-mentioned factors still remain atop the list as "major reasons" attracting new students to campus each fall.

In another part of the survey, 87 per cent of the freshman participants indicated that they received information about Plattsburgh from college publications. In addition, 77 per cent of the respondents noted that they were provided information about the College from parents and relatives while 73 per cent reported they were contacted by direct mail. Major influences on students' enrollment decisions indicated the College's Spring Open House and scheduled campus tours as the biggest factor (79%), followed by personal contact with College representatives (71%), and encouragement from friends and students of the College (63%).

CLINTON COUNTY BIRD BOOK PUBLISHED BY TWO COLLEGE FACULTY MEMBERS

A 68-page book containing information on the abundance and distribution of 244 species of birds recorded in Clinton County has been edited and published by two members of the College faculty. Associate professors Drs. Harold Klein, biology; and Charles Mitchell, education; have recently published the book entitled, "Birds of Clinton County," in cooperation with the Northern Adirondack Chapter of the National Audubon Society. The material for the book was originally researched by a former Plattsburgh State student, Philip Warren, who conducted the field work for the book in order to complete requirements for a master's degree through the College's Master of Arts (Liberal Studies) program. The book is an account of the abundance or scarcity of Clinton County's bird population during all seasons of the year. The book calls attention to the gaps in knowledge about the occurrence and breeding status of these species and contains excellent descriptions and detailed maps identifying birding areas in the county. Printed and bound by the College's Duplicating Services, the book is on sale for $3.00 at the College Bookstore and area bookstores, gift shops, and business places.
